

Please reserve more of the airwaves for the citizens, and stop selling it to corporations. The airwaves belong to the people, and I request that you protect the public's airwaves by increasing the bandwidth reserved for the people's use, specifically for community purposes.

Many people currently lament the passing of community spirit that used to be so much more common. I believe this is largely due to governmental agencies selling the people's commons to private corporations.

Please protect the electronic commons by reserving more of it for the citizens to use for community purposes.

Thanks for your consideration.

John Wenger